

GEORGINA YOUNG

HELLO!

Hello, I'm Georgie, a Paleo food blogger and mother of three from the UK. I have an avid interest in long distance running, kettlebells, martial arts and olympic lifting.

I came up with my blog Greens of the Stone Age after the majority of my good friends nagged me to share my recipes. I also suffer from an autoimmune disease and have been able to keep it under control by following a Paleo lifestyle.

In September 2014 I launched my blog and I have since built a great & loyal following within the Paleo community, not only within the UK but around the world.

I hope to further my love of Paleo food by any means possible and to share my passion with the rest of the world.
